The Enlightenment and Masonry

By Richard Llewellyn Jones, 32°, KCCH

Enlightenment Article 12 (John Locke)

It is hard to underestimate the centrality of John Locke (1632-1704) to the Enlightenment and to the drafting of our Declaration of Independence and Constitution. Taking up from his predecessors, Locke's epistemology (theory of knowledge), dealt a death blow to the Aristotelian Scholasticism that had been the prevailing intellectual paradigm throughout the seventeenth century.

Locke was born into a Puritan family and raised during the tumultuous period between the over-throw of Charles I (1649), the Cromwellian Protectorate (1649-1660) and the Restoration of the Crown and Charles II (1660). His father was a country lawyer who served in the cavalry during the English Civil War under the command of Alexander Popham, a local member of parliament. It was through Popham's patronage the young Locke gained his education, first at Westminster school and then at Oxford.

Like most of his contemporary Enlightenment luminaries, Locke found the Aristotelian Scholasticism that remained the primary focus of higher learning at Oxford wanting. Locke gravitated to a growing number of students and faculty that were beginning to challenge the existing paradigm in much the way Francis Bacon (1561-1626) had in Novum Organum, first published in 1620. Following Bacon's lead, Locke and his fellow students concluded that the best way to understand the natural world was through keen observation and the systematic collection of facts to arrive at generalizations that could be rigorously tested. In many ways, Locke greatly expanded the role of empiricism that had been forcefully argued by Bacon.

Locke received his B.A. in 1656 and then went on to study medicine. Locke immersed himself in the work of Robert Boyle (1627-1691) and Issac Newton (1643-1727), both of whom he knew personally. It was through the lens of Boyle and Newton that Locke was introduced to the work of René Descartes (1596-1650).

Although he found Descartes an alternative to the Aristotelian Scholasticism he found so objectionable at Oxford, he disagreed with Descartes' belief that humans possess a God given innate knowledge of the world around us that we must merely unlock through reflection. Instead, Locke believed that all knowledge is acquired through our experience of and interaction with the world around us. For Locke, the human mind at birth is a "tabula rasa" (blank slate) through which we obtain knowledge from two sources: (1) sensation acquired from our experiences with the natural world and (2) reflection of the mind on the ideas generated from those experiences. In refuting Descartes epistemology, Locke argued in his Essay Concerning Human Understanding (1689) that if knowledge is innate as asserted by Descartes, "children and idiots" should be as knowledgeable of the world around us as a competent adult!

For Locke, all knowledge, whether scientific, philosophic or theological, is based upon experience which leads to general propositions. But these general propositions are provisional and always subject to review and revision should empirical testing reveal those general propositions to be faulty or inadequate.

Whereas Descartes' epistemology, based upon God given innate knowledge of the world around us from birth left humans little free will, Locke's epistemology based on knowledge gleaned from our empirical exploration of God's creation rather than innate knowledge, provided humans substantially more free will. With such free will, we can rightly discuss the nature of God, based upon empirical evidence of his existence, and consider the proper place of kings and monarchs, based upon their benefit to society as a whole. These notions clearly conflicted with the prevailing paradigm of the absolute authority of the Catholic Church and the divine right of kings.

From Locke's epistemology flowed his theories about government. Like Thomas Hobbs (1588-1679) and Jean-Jacques Rousseau (1712-1778) after him, Locke argued in his Second Treatise of Government (1690) that humans have "natural rights" to "life, health, liberty or possessions." Sounds a lot like the phrase "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness" found in our Declaration of Independence. However, the uncertain state of nature propelled people to enter into "social contracts" with the governments the goal of promoting their security and welfare. In this, Locke was skeptical of monarchy, which tended to intolerance and tyranny, and advocated separation of powers in government. These notions also found their way into our founding documents, especially our Constitution.

Locke's influence on our founding fathers cannot be underestimated. As Thomas Jefferson (1743-1826) wrote: "Bacon, Locke and Newton . . . I consider them as the three greatest men that have ever lived, without any exception, and as having laid the foundation of those superstructures which have been raised in the Physical and Moral sciences." High praise from the leading architect of our Constitution.

Locke set into motion radical changes in our thinking about our natural world and our place in it. Certainly, our democratic form of government and notions of rights and responsibilities owe a considerable debt of gratitude to John Locke.

Happy Thanksgiving!

By Todd E. Creason

On behalf of the Midnight Freemasons, I'd like to wish you all a very Happy Thanksgiving. One thing I know we're all thankful for here at the Midnight Freemasons, is for our readers who have made this blog such a success over the last several years. So enjoy this story about Thanksgiving and a famous Freemason. I put this same story up every year. It's becoming a Thanksgiving tradition in itself. And it goes like this . . .

The tradition of celebrating the harvest on a Thursday goes back to Plymouth and the Pilgrims. The most famous of these was the three day festival in 1621, when Plymouth governor William Bradford invited local Indians to join the Pilgrims feast.

But it wasn't until the 17th century that it became an annual custom. George Washington, issuing the very first Presidential proclamation, declared November 26th, 1789 as a day of national thanksgiving for the United States Constitution. But it never really caught on until 1863, when President Lincoln declared that Thanksgiving would fall on the fourth Thursday of November and the holiday began to be celebrated nationally.

Then comes Franklin D. Roosevelt, who decided after 75 years, he wanted to change what Lincoln had established. He proclaimed Thanksgiving as the next to last Thursday of November. Very few liked the change, and there was a huge controversy surrounding it. Some Americans simply ignored FDR and celebrated Thanksgiving as they always had on the date they always had. For the next two years, Franklin Roosevelt repeated the unpopular proclamation. Finally, in 1941, Roosevelt gave up on it. He signed a bill into law officially making the fourth Thursday in November the national holiday of Thanksgiving.

And we've been celebrating it on that day ever since .
Happy Thanksgiving

Once again it's that time of year to appeal to the membership to remit their annual dues. Unfortunately – due to increased expenses, utilities, building improvements and experiencing a slight raise in property taxes as well as a big raise in insurance rates – the Lodge of Perfection found it necessary to increase the Valley of Everett annual dues.

Currently, our Valley membership stands at 196 members. Of which 36 have already remitted their 2022 annual dues.

The Valley still has fifty (50) members who are due for 2022 – deadline of which is December 31st, 2021.

Nine (9) of whom live outside the area. Which leaves 41 of whom live within our immediate service area.

Sadly – we have made many prior efforts to induce 17 other members of the Valley of Everett who are still in default as follows:

Ten (10) are due for 2021 and have also been billed for 2022.

Seven (7) are due for 2020-2021 and have also been billed for 2022. These members are in Extreme default and will most likely be suspended for non-payment of dues (NPD).

Of these seventeen (17) brothers – five (5) live outside the area or out of State.

We currently have eleven (11) 50-Year members and five (5) members who are either incapacitated or unable to remit their dues for a total of sixteen (16).

As was necessary last year, the Valley found it necessary to approach the Endowed (purchased) Life Members to voluntarily remit the per capita's assessed by the Orient of Washington ($2 Rite Care and $3 Scholarship Foundation) and Supreme Council 33° Washington, DC $28 or total of $33.

This year we saw another increase in per capita and again we found it necessary to approach the 77 Life members to voluntarily remit and/or donate towards the newly adjusted per capita of $37. So far – 14 members have contributed $518 plus an additional $695 ($1,213) to offset these annual assessments – all which were directed to our general fund.

The Valley has taken steps to increase our annual income by getting our kitchen upgraded to a licensed commissary kitchen, and have attracted outside vendors to supplement our income. This program is now in place and has been effective.

The Members of the Valley of Everett extend to all the Brethren listed for the Month of November A Very Happy Birthdays

WHAT IS YOUR MASONIC MEMBERSHIP WORTH?

BY DEWEY WOLLSTEIN, PGM

Have you ever paused to consider what your Masonic membership is worth to you- not in dollars, but in the things that dollars cannot buy?

Was there ever a passport into more wonderful friendships than that represented by your membership in Masonry? Has the thought occurred to you that you extend your hand in fellowship and understanding, and it is received not by a limited group, but by millions?

Do we give thought to the strength and inspiration that we receive from the lessons of Masonry, and how those lessons enrich our lives, and broaden our vision? Yes, they even make possible an education, the like of which is not possible through any other course of instruction.

Have you ever thought how Masonry makes you tolerant of the other fellow's faults and weaknesses because Love has brought Wisdom from the Great Light of Freemasonry?

Have you ever thought of the privileges of service that Masonry offers- the happiness derived from such service and sacrifice?

When we entered the portals of Masonry we had certain qualifications necessary to become a Mason, but do we take stock of ourselves and find that we have grown spiritually and mentally over years that we have worked in Masonry?

Have you ever looked upon the face of a brother who is about to receive a button for 50 years of service to Masonry? What do you suppose Masonry has meant to that brother?

Let us take our Masonic membership to our heart. Let us thank God for the privilege of our Masonic membership.

As it stands right now, we can hold our meeting in public however, we all must wear our mask while in the meeting.

On Monday, October 4, 2021, the Valley held its stated Meeting where our newly elected Brethren received their 4th Degree by the Fourth Degree conferral team led by Ill. Brother George Lofthus with his team of cast members. All who were in attendance enjoyed a well put together degree.

The Valley last month also held the Feast of Tishri on October 18th, 2021. This was a RSVP Dinner and all who attended had a very delicious meal prepared for us by our own personal Chef, Alice Anderson. Upon completion of the meal, all enjoyed a Feast of Tishri Presentation by Brother Jeff Maynor 32, KCCH.

Just a reminder to those members who pay Annual Dues to the Valley of Everett, that your annual dues of $150.00 are due to the Valley of Everett no later than December 31st, 2021. By now, all Life Members should have received their notification and letter of request along with a self addressed return envelope requesting that our Valley Life Members, if financially able, to assist the Valley by voluntarily paying the mandatory $37 per capita per member for the year 2022 as assessed by Supreme Council and the Orient of Washington. Your assistance in helping the Valley of Everett is truly appreciated.

The Valley of Everett Executive Committee and Temple Board will meet via Zoom, our General Secretary will email out the information to all the member of Valley of Everett to which cordially invited to attend.

Finally Brethren, should you know a Brother, his family or one our widows that are ill or in need of some assistance please contact the Valley of Everett Almoner John Mathers, at 425-778-3772, so we may provide them with the assistance that may require.

It is the Lodge of Perfections hope, now that as the doors are now open with restrictions, that all our Valley Brethren remember to make yourself present for all the stated meeting in your future Blue Lodges and more especially, the Valley of Everett's Scottish Rite meetings.
